Jewish Mysticism and The Tree of Life

Join us at Generations of Indian Valley for another enlightening presentation in our Spirit Journeys Series. "Etz chaim hee – She is a tree of life." Rabbi Michael Ross will unlock the mysteries of the "Tree of Life" made popular in Jewish mystical texts.

We will explore a mapping of the "Tree" and discover how to use the "Tree" in our everyday lives. We will also explore the basic tenets of the Kabbalah.

(Rabbi Ross's presentation will be based on the research of Rabbi Arthur Green, in "A Guide to the Zohar.")

Rabbi Michael Ross is a Reconstructionist rabbi living in suburban Philadelphia. He teaches weekly adult education classes, and leads torah study and meditation sits at Congregation B'nai Jacob in Phoenixville, PA. He currently is the education director at Am Haskalah in Bethlehem, Keshet Shalom in Abington, and Hayom in Phoenixville.

Rabbi
Michael Ross

Rabbi Michael is developing a Jewish meditation center and learning center in suburban Philadelphia dedicated to the study of "Present-Tense Judaism." He officiates at interfaith Jewish lifecycle events, leads scholar-in-residence weekends, and leads High Holidays at Chavurah B'Yachad in Salt Lake City. He is a published curriculum writer and works as an experienced editor to rabbis fine-tuning their sermons and blog entries.

He co-edited the recent children's prayer-book, "Kol HaNo'ar: The Voice of Children." He is married to Rabbi Rachel Brown, the spiritual leader of Congregation B'nai Jacob in Phoenixville.

Rabbi Ross' presentation will be followed by a time of light refreshments.
